mercy home foundation, inc.

The Mercy Home Foundation is a non-profit corporation created to build and maintain schools and homes and provide care for physically and mentally challenged women and children.

Our goals are to create improved living conditions for these women in the United States, India and worldwide, and to raise awareness of their plight.

Currently

Working with JACID, a trust established in 2003 in the Tirunelveli district of Southern India, the Mercy Home Foundation, Inc. has identified special needs children living in the area. They currently are home bound and destined to become homeless or wards of the state. Studies show that if they can be identified at an early age and educated many of them can become mainstreamed and productive members of society.

Our goal is to build a school capable of handling 25 students in classes of no more than eight students to each instructor. In addition to classrooms we will also have a speech therapy area and a physical therapy room.

Temporary school quarters.

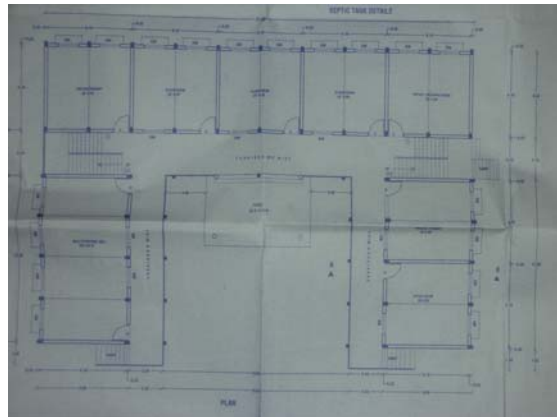

The JACID complex currently houses a trade school (JACID) and St Anthony's College. The Angel Nagar Day school will be temporarily set up in this cafeteria currently on the grounds.

Land has been cleared

Agreements finalized.

Floor plans

JACID has donated the land and agreed to cover any other costs of operation.

No Discrimination is made based on caste, creed, or color. All children in need are accepted. They children will be bused to and from the school each day. The federal and state governments have agreed to carry the maintenance costs including salaries once the building is completed.

The Mercy Home Foundation operates with an all volunteer staff. There are no paid employees. All money donated goes directly to the projects.

First bricks are laid.
